

Abstract

These papers consist of three chapters.

In chapter one, we give the details of the object.

In chapter two, we give the details of the method to solve partial differential equation of first order, say modified decomposition.

In chapter three, we give some examples to explain this method