

Abstract

In this work is proposed a method using matrix transform properties to encrypt and decrypt a message . it will be showed how to use matrix's function to create complex encryptions .

The study addressed to problem of cryptographic messages using invertible matrices in state of hill cipher method . the messages have been encrypted perfectly using secret key matrices a long with relative prime and inverse multiplication.